ARTH/THE320 Performing (in) Athens: Exploring the City through Theatre and Performance
Fall 2019

Dr. Athena Stourna

Class Meetings:
DAY M/W HOURS 11:00-12:35

Course Description
Athens is considered one of the most vibrant theatre scenes in Europe. We will focus on current practices in theatre and performance mainly in Greece, but also in Europe and the United States. We will undertake a critical, historical and creative overview of theatre and performance making in periods of crisis, in Europe and the United States, and examine how contemporary Greek artists address issues such as: theatre and society, the human body/the body politic, and the stage and the city. We will also perform a slight backtrack into the ancient past and the beginnings of theatre in its birthplace. The course will include visits to different theatres and other performance spaces: a theatre in a train, a 19th century proscenium theatre, underground performance spaces, together with backstage tours and talks with artists.

This course is for students in the Arts and Humanities and anyone interested in theatre and performance.

Learning Objectives
By the end of the course, students should be able to:

1) Explore, compare and contrast different cultures and artistic movements through the analysis of historical and contemporary practices in theatre and performance;
2) Reflect on the multidisciplinary applications of theatre and performance within an international and transhistorical context;
3) Analyze theatre and performance practice in a given environment;
4) Evaluate key concepts and movements in Theatre and Performance History and Theory.

Course Requirements

- Final exam 20%
- Participation 30%
- Reaction paper/Performance criticism (2 papers, 800 words each) 20%
- Research Paper (1,500 words and video) 30%
Assignments

- Reaction paper/Performance criticism (2 papers, 800 words each)

In addition to our regular classroom activities, you are required to attend three productions (theatre/ballet/opera) and to write a critical response for the two of them.

RUBRIC

1. Organization. Your paper has a clear thesis (focus) and point of view. (15)
2. Clarity. Your writing is clear and engages the reader. (10)
3. Analysis. You are free to focus on whichever aspect of the production you choose. Try to include the artistic merits/shortcomings of the show itself and to evaluate the whole experience of attending a live performance, both inside and outside of the theatre building. (25)
4. Examples. Make sure to use clear examples. (10)
5. Grammar and syntax. Proofread your paper and make sure there are no typing, grammar and syntax errors. (15)
6. Overall. (25) The paper should be written with a point-of-view and a creative critical thinking that engages the reader.

Total points. (100)

- Research Paper (1,500 words and video) 30%

Your research paper will be practice-based. You will be asked to produce a short performance that will be captured on video. Your research paper will accompany your artistic project and it will outline your creative process and artistic choices, based on the subjects we tackled in class.

RUBRIC

1. Artistic project. Focus on the originality of the subject you choose and be clear about your point of view. Be bold, be unpredictable, be imaginative, be creative! (40)
2. Written account.
   i. Analysis. Be analytical in your written account of your artistic choices and process. Be clear and precise about your choice of subject, your artistic choices, and your creative process. (15)
   ii. Critical thinking. Use key concepts, theoretical readings and artistic methods taught in class and refer to them in your written account. Include a bibliography. (15)
3. Overall. Engage your viewer/reader in new, unexpected and original approaches in both your artistic product and in your critical response to it. (30)

Total points. (100)

- Final exam (20%)

Your final exam will have the form of an essay.
Class Participation: Your attendance and in class writing and analysis is vitally important to your success in this course.

Attendance: Students are expected to report for classes promptly. CYA regards attendance in class and on-site as essential. Absences are recorded and have consequences. Illness or other such compelling reasons which result in absences should be reported immediately in the Student Affairs Office.

Policy on Original Work: Unless otherwise specified, all submitted work must be your own, original work. Any excerpts from the work of others must be clearly identified as a quotation, and a proper citation provided. (Check Student handbook, pg. 9)

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: If you are a registered (with your home institution) student with a disability and you are entitled to learning accommodation, please inform the Director of Academic Affairs and make sure that your school forwards the necessary documentation.
